

ABSTRACT

A correlated double sampling pixel gain amplifier includes a main amplifier, an input sampling capacitor, and a feedback capacitor. The input capacitor samples the inputs signal during a first time phase and the feedback capacitor samples the input during a second time
5 phase. No sampling switch is located between the input capacitor and the input terminal. The feedback capacitor may include a capacitor array.